

Europe-Mobile is looking for a New Team!
Applications are due until Mai 31, 2017

Europe-Mobile is preparing its tour through Germany! The project will bring students from all over Europe together with pupils from the German region of Brandenburg (around Berlin). Europe-Mobile aims to enhance pupils' interest in European affairs by making Europe tangible to them. It also reveals concrete chances for pupils how to get mobile in Europe.

This year, a group of 20 students from different EU member countries travel around by bus, the Europamobil, visiting various schools in the German region of Brandenburg in order to run workshops, simulation games and seminars for pupils on specific European issues.

In 2017, Europe-Mobile will take place from September 04 to September 29. The project is divided into three phases:

1. Educational Training

A weeklong introductory seminar includes training units on project management, on pedagogical methods and on EU issues preparing the students for their work on the ground in the classrooms. Additionally, professionals will support students in developing workshops.

2. School visits

For around two weeks, we visit one school every day within the land Brandenburg to conduct European workshops for pupils from the age of 13 to 18.

3. Final conference and Evaluation

The experiences and methods will be evaluated among the group and afterwards will be presented in a final conference on Wednesday, September 27, 2017.

Europe-Mobile is directed to students of European Studies, Political, Social or Cultural Science as well as Economics and from other relevant disciplines from all European countries.

Europe-Mobile offers the chance to gain practical experience in an international project environment and to deepen your knowledge on EU issues. In addition to this the project gives an opportunity to build a European network and to reinforce intercultural skills. Depending on the university, your participation may be recognised as an internship or an ECTS equivalent.
